eSIM

An eSIM is a tiny, built-in chip in your phone that can hold multiple mobile plans digitally (no plastic SIM).

Travel eSIM

A travel eSIM is a short-term mobile data plan you buy online for the country/region you're visiting. You scan a QR code (or use an app), the plan downloads to your phone, and you're online when you land.

Cheaper:
Local/regional data rates are typically far lower than home network's roaming prices.

Faster:
Connect to local networks directly, often with better speeds/latency than roaming partners.

Instant setup:
No shop visit; buy and activate before or after you fly.

Keep your number:
Run dual-SIM—use the travel eSIM for data while home SIM stays active for calls/OTP texts (banking, WhatsApp).

Flexible:
Swap plans easily, add more data, or change countries with regional eSIMs.

No bill shock:
Prepaid data with clear allowances; usage is easy to track in the app/settings.
